MASK AND SCARF WORN BY BENNETT NIGHT OF MURDER

Seen by Witnesses Who Examined His Body Morning After Ambuscade.

Statements of Defendants Made Next Day.

HUNT AND GARDNER WERE OUT

Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 16.—The evidence introduced in the Gardner-Hunt murder trial was sensational, the defendants, John Gardner and Walter Hunt, being connected with the crime as a result of a statement made by the former to Chief of Police J. E. Robinson on the morning following the killing.

Ernest Woodson was cross-examined by the defense. He said he pushed the cloth up on Bennett's head and that gun shells were found four or five steps back of the plum bushes. Bennett had on a gray overcoat, and had a piece of white cloth pinned to it from the breast to the right arm.

Squire A. L. Davis testified that he had been called to hold the inquest over Bennett's body, but when he reached him he was not dead. He never noticed anything to conceal Bennett's face, which was so bloody he could scarcely recognize him. When he got to the barn the boy's face was washed by young Woodson, who said "What's this?" when he saw a colored rag that came down over part of his face. Witness never examined the cloth.

Examined the Body.

Bennett was removed to his home about 1:30 and died at 2 o'clock. Witness never saw him again until after his death, when he held the inquest. He examined the body and found one shot in the right eye, one just above and one in the right temple, three or four back of the neck and head, and there seemed to be seven or eight in the right arm, near the shoulder. He saw three guns at the place of the killing, one of which, a single-barreled gun, was loaded. The others were empty, and had no empty shells in them. He saw in empty shells inside of the field fence. Bennett had a loaded pistol in his pocket, which was turned over to his father on the day of the inquest. He saw horse and buggy tracks on the north side of the Trough Spring road, also around the telephone post, where a horse was hitched. The rope which had been used as a hitch rein was nailed by his son, and had been cut. The twigs of the plum trees along the fence had been shot away.

On cross-examination Squire Davis said Bennett had on a light overcoat and a white cloth was fastened to the right arm. He did not remember seeing a cloth tied over the head, but it was lying on the head.

He denied having heard any one say that Woodson should have pulled that rag off of that boy. Earl Bennett, a brother of the dead boy, was at the inquest, and was shot. The cloth which covered Bennett's head was not shown at the inquest, and he did not know what became of it.

Herman Davis stated that he accompanied his father to the scene of the killing, and found two dead horses, Vaughn Bennett and three guns, also a piece of hitch rein tied to a telephone pole. He described the position of the horses and Bennett as they lay on the roadside. Said Bennett had a piece of cloth on his head, and never saw any other cloth about him. Said he nailed the hitch rein, which had been cut. Witness was with Bennett the day before, when he wore the same clothes as on the night of the killing. He identified the hitch rein which was taken from the post. The only shell he saw in the road was a loaded one in the single-barreled shotgun.

On cross-examination witness said he saw the cloth on his head, and not on his face. It seemed to be white. He never saw any white cloth on his breast or arm. Said a man named Binkley, who worked for Bennett's father, left soon after the shooting. He never heard of night riders being out that night.

Sheriff Testifies.

Sheriff Staton testified that he was notified of the shooting about 6:30 a. m., and that Bennett had been removed before he got there. He noticed the twigs shot off of the plum trees and the weeds had been washed down by the trees.

Herman Davis gave him the hitch rein taken from the pole and he found a piece to match it at Lassiter's livery stable. He said three guns and three hats were turned over to him, one of which he identified, the others having been turned over to Mr. Bennett.

Luke Allen stated that he was employed at Lassiter's livery stable. He Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—Results indicate the success of the anti-Cannon candidates for congress. Taft, Meyer, Davis and Stevens were renominated. C. H. Miller defeated J. Adam Reide. Third Assistant Postmaster General probably was nominated.

Mine Owner Arrested.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Thomas Kears one of the best known gold mine owners of Nevada, returned to Rawhide today with the sheriff, charged with embezzlement of $8,500 from a mine company. He declares his arrest was spite work, money being given him by the stockholders and directors.

Blaze in Grocery Store.

Last night about 10:45 o'clock fire companies Nos. 1 and 4 were called to Perry's grocery, 712 South Fifth street, to extinguish a blaze in the store. It is not known how the blaze originated. The stock of groceries was ruined by the water and smoke. The fire ladders did a quick job on the blaze. The loss will be about $200 partially covered with insurance.

Said Sheriff Staton came to the stable and that he complained of the muddy buggy and half of the hitch rein. Witness said Chief of Police Robinson got the buggy that had the hitch rein in it. That he, the officer, had been using the buggy to drive around to look after the guards. The buggy was very muddy and the horse nearly out of business. Chief Robinson returned the buggy about 4:30 o'clock the following morning.

Chief Robinson was next called and his testimony was of a sensational character. He said he got a buggy from Lassiter's stable about 9 o'clock. It was driven away from the police headquarters by John Gardner and Walter Hunt about 10 o'clock. He did not know which way they went, but he next saw them about 4 o'clock in the morning. Said Moore and Henry took were with Hunt and Gardner in the buggy. When they started Hunt and Gardner carried an automatic shotgun.

Said Bennett wore mask.

The witness said when they drove up to the police station he asked Gardner if they had any trouble, and Gardner said one or two men were killed and two horses, and that Dr. Crouch pulled the mask from the face and saw it was Vaughn Bennett. He also said that he and Hunt were in the vicinity of the killing but the other parties were not. Witness said he was not present when any arrangement was made to go to the country by any party of which the defendants were members. He was in an adjoining room and heard B. P. Sory talking over the phone. He told witness that Dr. Crouch had called and said a body of armed men were passing Will Crouch's residence. Witness phoned the sheriff, who said he had called at the toll gate to see if anybody had passed. Sory asked for the buggy. Witness had not had any further conversation with Gardner and never talked to Hunt about the matter.

On cross-examination, witness said he had charge of the guards put on for the purpose of protecting the town against night riders. The question asked relative to witness' knowledge of various offenses committed in the county was objected to by the state. Counsel for defense stated that they had some authorities to offer in support of their question and court adjourned until this morning, when the question will be argued.

PUBLIC MEETING.

Next Monday night at the High school building a special meeting of the school board will be held to have the county officers and the $100,000 bond issue on the ballots. A letter, signed by several school trustees, was handed to President Boardman today, asking that special meeting be called. The meeting is called on advice of Hon. Charles K. Wheeler, who is the attorney for the school board. At the meeting all citizens, especially the public spirited women of the city are invited, and whether the citizens are for or against the issuance of the bonds. If the board room is crowded the meeting will be held in the High school auditorium.

LONE OAK OFFICE IS DISCONTINUED BY DEPARTMENT

The Lone Oak postoffice was discontinued today, because nearly all of the patrons of that suburb of Paducah are served by the rural routes. Rural route carriers Nos. 1, 2 and 7 pass through the village and even the citizens on the outskirts are able to have their mail delivered in a box in front of their residence. Florence Station and Massac are the only two remaining postoffices, having rural routes to pass by them. The rural route has eliminated several of the small postoffices. Mrs. M. Sanderson has been postmistress at Lone Oak.

Mr. Lyon took his heavy walking stick and gave the fellow a sound "whack" across the body. After such treatment the unknown man ran off and did not try his game on Mr. Lyon again.

The first light practice was indulged in yesterday afternoon by the High school boys. Fifteen candidates were on the field, but more are expected this afternoon. New jerseys will be purchased. Prof. W. A. Evans was pleased with the result yesterday as he has some active and earnest players on his list. Letters have been written to the surrounding cities in preparation of a schedule, and it is the intention to have a football game every Saturday afternoon. A captain of the squad will not be elected until a better organization has been effected. PRINCESS SENT TOO MUCH MONEY HOME TO HUSBAND

Indigent Scion of Nobility Suspected Her Because of Amount.

He Sues For Divorce and Leaves Her.

TROUBLES OF THE BROGLIES

Paris, Sept. 16.—Prince Robert De Broglie, whose matrimonial tribulations, in 1906 and 1907, were ventilated in France and the United States has abandoned his wife and children, and his lawyer has announced the intention of the prince to bring an action for divorce on the ground of adultery.

The princess is an American woman. Her maiden name was Estelle Alexander, and she lived in San Francisco. She was the divorced wife of Sidney H. Holt, and married the prince in Chicago in 1906. The princess' father was opposed to this union and he succeeded in having the Chicago marriage declared void by a French court. Following this action, the prince remarried Miss Alexander under the French law.

When the princess was seen at her home she was intensely indignant at what she characterized as the "rueful and cowardly act" of her husband. She said that the charge of adultery was baseless, and that it had been simply trumped up by the prince, who doubtless wanted to rid himself of his American wife for the purpose of marrying another woman, or to effect a reconciliation with his family.

Took Her Money.

Continuing, the princess declared that she had supported her husband by her earnings on the stage this summer. While at Orléans, she sent remittances regularly to the prince.

When she returned home August 3 the princess said she noticed coldness on his part and taxed him with it. He thereupon left the house and told her to call on his lawyer if she wanted an explanation. The princess did and was told that her husband had left her forever and that he intended to bring an action for divorce on the ground of adultery.

He claimed that the amount of her last remittance proved that she had obtained the money dishonestly. The princess replied that even had this money been obtained improperly, which she denied the prince had not hesitated to accept it.

GRAND OPENING OF FALL RACE MEET

Big Crowd in Attendance is Well Pleased.

Officials Are Satisfactory and the Horses Are All Well Matched.

FRANK H. IS A GREAT FIND.

WINNERS.

2:20 trot—Frank H., owned by M. H. Hucker, of Uniontown. Time, 2:19 1/4.

2:15 pace—Sadie K., owned by J. H. Smith, Murfreesboro, Tenn. Time, 2:15 1/4.

Half mile dash—Hend Double, owned by R. B. Bradley, of St. Louis. Time, :51.

Three-fourths dash—Roseboro, owned by Hays & Gartin, Park, Tenn. Time, 1:15.

Auspicious was the opening of the fall races yesterday afternoon at the race track. It was "Ladies' Day" and the fair sex did not miss seeing the races. The grandstand was filled, while a large crowd was strung along the fences, each person stretching his neck to get a good glimpse of the stippers as they turned in on the home stretch. The heats were nerve straining with many nose finishes. The sport was so enjoyable that a larger crowd is out this afternoon to witness the program. Again many women are in attendance. The judges kept after the drivers and owners with a sharp stick, and made them bring the horses out quicker, which met the approval of the large crowd.

The first race was the 2:20 trot, in which the entries were: Frank H., owned by M. H. Hucker, of Uniontown; Billy Buck, owned by A. S. Thompson; Bay Jim, Miss Pennyville, owned by H. A. Tyler, of Hickman. On the fourth score down Frank H. led at the wire by a nose and maintained his lead for quite a distance. Billy Buck broke and Frank H. surged ahead for a good lead, and maintained his first position until the wire was crossed.

The second heat was a better one than the first. Frank H. and Billy Buck left the wire together with Bay Jim in easy sight. All three horses went off their stride, but Billy Buck settled more quickly. Frank H. went a fast gait, but Billy Buck went under the wire first.

In the third heat Billy Buck secured a good lead and made the other three horses follow. Frank H. kept in good distance, and just before the home stretch was reached Billy Buck broke and Frank H. went far in the lead. Billy Buck went by Miss Pennyville and Bay Jim, and made second, while Miss Pennyville was under third.

In the fourth heat Billy Buck got in the lead and it looked as if Bay Jim would be the horse to win from, but after regaining his feet Frank H. crept ahead and passed the wire first. The time of the heats were: 2:21 1/4, 2:19 1/4, 2:23 1/4, 2:20.

Second Race.

The second race was the 2:15 pace in which the entries were: Harry A., owned by Ben A. Frank; King Onward, owned by Thomas Settle; Sadie K., owned by J. H. Smith, Murfreesboro, Tenn. Harry A. drew the pole and on the third score down King Onward took the lead at the start, but the heat was nip and tuck with Harry A. Harry A. stood the run better and finished by half a length.

In the second heat Harry A. and King Onward were together for three-eighths, when Sadie K. caught them. King Onward dropped out and Harry A. beat Sadie K. out by a nose.

The third heat was captured by Sadie K. Harry A. made a fine run on the home stretch, and was second by a nose.

The fourth heat was followed by a nerve racking finish. All the way they went together but Sadie K. went under first with King Onward second, followed by Harry A.

The fifth and deciding heat Sadie K. went to the front, but the two horses went up slowly. Sadie K. finished first by the narrowest margin, with Harry A. just an inch behind, and King Onward about three inches back. The times of the heats were: 2:19 1/4, 2:15 1/4, 2:15 1/4, 2:19, 2:18 1/2.

Half Mile Dash.

The third race, the half mile dash had five entries with just as much excitement, as many people remained after the harness races just to see the runners go. The entries were: Bend Double, ridden by Burton; Roseboro, ridden by Smith; Albermarle, ridden by J. Davis; Triangle, ridden by McCarty; Waddle Lee, ridden by Shannon. Bend Double was scratched. After many attempts Bend Double and Roseboro refused to behave, but when the flag dropped Waddle Lee was well to the front, with the others well bunched, although Bend Double and Roseboro were to the rear. In the final turn all of the runners were together, and with a fine burst of speed Bend Double gained the front, while Roseboro followed in second place, with Triangle third. The time was :51.

Fourth Race.

The fourth race of the day was pulled off just before dark began to hover. The entries were: Roseboro, ridden by Burton; Brother Breeze, ridden by Burris, and Louise K., ridden by Hill. In the getaway Louise K. refused to leave, and Brother Breeze and Roseboro raced together. Roseboro carried Brother Breeze the entire route and won. The time was 1:15.

The officials of the races yesterday were: Starting Judge, W. L. Talbot, of Pontiac, Ill.; Judge—Dr. M. P. Farley, Geo. Alexander and T. J. Stahl. Timers—George Goodman, Alvin Campbell, of Union City, Tenn. and Hattie Ogilvie, clerk of scales, Ray C. Sparks.

One Accident.

The only accident to mar the day was when Jockey Cherry had his right wrist broken. Cherry was exercising Roseboro, when his stirrup broke and let him fall to the track. He fell in front of the grand stand, and the breath was knocked out of him. Jockey Huron mounted Roseboro and won the race.

Roseboro and Cay Jones, the crack horses of Guy Lee, of Union City, Tenn., were shipped from Wheeling, W. Va., Saturday but did not arrive until about 4 o'clock. When led back of the grand stand the crowd rubbered and cheered the fast horses. They will be entered in races during the meet. Roseboro was withdrawn in a race yesterday owing to the delay in shipping.

Frank H.

Frank H., the winner of the 2:20 trot, is nothing less than a "find." Mr. M. H. Hucker, of Uniontown, spotted the horse and bought him July 2. He was untrained from a paw and driven to the race track. He was given a day's training July 3, and July 4 was entered in the races. The muscle and the crowd frightened the horse. Since July 4 Mr. Hucker has been out on the circuits and Frank H. has been entered in eleven races. Of these he has captured first money ten times. His work yesterday demonstrated that Frank H. is a horse worth owning.

Harry A., owned by Ben T. Frank, made a good try yesterday, but had to give up to Sadie K. Anyhow Harry A. went some in going around in 2:15 1/4.

Col. W. L. Talbot, of Pontiac, Ill., is a fine starter, and not one kick was registered yesterday. He has snap and ginger, and tries to get the horses off as soon as possible, and still give every horse a fair chance.

Splendid police protection was given on the grounds yesterday and not one case of disorder was reported. T. L. Moore was chief of police and the crowd was kept inside the fence.

DISPENSARY BLOW

SOUTH CAROLINA SYSTEM IS UNLAWFUL.

Says Federal Court of Appeals—Opposed to Constitution.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 16.—The United States circuit court of appeals, in a decision handed down, sustained the opinion of Judge J. C. Pritchard in the famous case of the Fleischmann company and others against the South Carolina dispensary commission, holding, in effect, that a state cannot conduct the liquor traffic, that being a private business. The opinion was written by Judge James E. Boyd, of Greensboro, S. C., and concurred in by his associates, Best Medicine Says a Doubting Thomas.

"I Am Convinced That Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Is the Best Medicine I Have Ever Taken. I Say This With Due Deliberation After the Use of Two Bottles."—Chas. E. Getchell, Webbs Mills, Maine.

Mr. Getchell, Like Thousands of Others Who Have Been Greatly Benefitted by the Use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, Cannot Say Too Much in Praise of This, the World's Greatest Medicine. On November 18, 1907, Mr. Getchell Wrote as Follows:

"After due deliberation, having used two bottles of Duffy's Malt Whiskey, I am convinced that it is the best medicine that I have ever taken. At first I was doubtful, but I doubt no more, for I can truly say to you and to the world that its use has improved my health so much I feel like a new man. For the past five years I have been able to work but little, with pains in my kidneys and bladder. I suffered continually, and until I began to take your Malt Whiskey I got no relief, but since then I have been growing better every day. You cannot imagine how happy I am to be able once more to walk three or four miles without any of the old troubles, and I sincerely thank you for calling my attention to your valuable medicine, and be assured I shall always keep it in the house. If any one wishes to write me concerning it I shall be glad to answer."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

If weak and run down, take a teaspoonful four times a day in half a glass of milk or water.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold throughout the world by druggists, grocers and dealers, or shipped direct for $1.00 a large bottle.

If in need of advice, write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a handsome illustrated medical booklet containing some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of the world's greatest medicine.

BRYAN COLLOSSAL FAILURE SAYS TAFT

Time Has Shown Fallacy of His Theories.

Republican Nominee Taft Declares He Stands on Record and Statements.

IS A REAL Foe OF LABOR.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 10.—"A few plain, simple sentences from Mr. Taft will be worth more than the eulogy that the president pronounces," said Mr. Bryan here.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 10.—As Taft's official record, his speech of acceptance and subsequent utterances are ample indications of his own political position, William H. Taft today replied to Mr. Bryan's comment on the Roosevelt letter by switching the spotlight of inquiry back to Mr. Bryan's own political record and making an analysis thereof. "This is Mr. Taft's reply."

"In my millification speech and in other speeches made since, I attempted to make clear my position on all the issues of the campaign. If Mr. Bryan has been unable to understand them I can not make them clearer. I stand on my record in office and what I have said. Mr. Bryan should devote a little time to his own record from which he seems to be struggling to separate himself with all the adroitness acquired in a twelve years' hunt for an issue on which he can be elected president."

Merely an Opposer.
"The readiness with which Mr. Bryan's successive presidential campaigns pass from one paramount issue to another shows that the chief consideration which has actuated his selection of an issue has been its plausibility in attracting votes."

"He presents the remarkable spectacle of one who has been seeking the presidency for twelve years without success and without official responsibility and without the opportunity to test the various propositions which he has advocated for reform, and yet of having demonstrated what a colossal failure he would have made in each instance had he been permitted to carry his proposals in the policies of the country."

Bryan's Deal Issues.
"He does not now say whether he is still in favor of the free coinage of silver. He does not now answer the question whether, if he were president and an emergency should arise in which he would be called upon to exercise discretion affirmatively to maintaining the parity between gold and silver, he would exercise that discretion."

"He has not permitted himself to discuss in this campaign the issue of anti-imperialism, which was the paramount issue in 1900, as he declared, and in respect to which the policy of the Republican party has been vindicated by the event, so that tranquility and a good government exist in the Philippine Islands, and even the Independents prefer Republican victory to Mr. Bryan's promises."

His Railroad Fallacy.
"He now says that he favors the more rigid regulation of the railroads. In 1896 he expressed the view that the railroads could not be regulated because the railroads would own the regulators appointed by law, and, therefore, he was in favor of government ownership. We hear nothing from him on this subject. Instead, by describing his platform, not only as an announcement of principles, but as a protection against uncomfortable issues, he has attempted to give bond to keep this peace with respect to government ownership, which, by its mere announcement, showed its lack of the vote-catching quality."

"He professes to have been the father, and now to be the heir, of the Roosevelt policies, and yet in no campaign of three in which he has taken part, and two of which he himself led, did he make them the paramount issue. Indeed, in the Parker campaign he took occasion to charge Mr. Roosevelt with militarism and with being completely subject to the influence of corporations, only to see him win the greatest peace triumph of the world and secure such an effective stamping out of corporate abuses as to elicit the admiration of the entire country."

"Mr. Bryan professes to be the great friend of labor, and yet he was one of the chief supporters in the passage of the Gorman-Wilson bill that made labor helpless for four years. He then proposed as a remedy for the disasters to which labor was thus exposed the issuing of a 50-cent dollar, which would have cut in half such wages as there were, and would have led to the hardest kind of struggle on labor's part to restore its wages to its proper equivalent under the gold standard."

"The country has been most fortunate that the fallacy of Mr. Bryan's railroad propositions has been exposed without the cost of putting them into actual governmental practice, and it will be fortunate indeed if the danger of four years' depression, to which it would be exposed in case of Mr. Bryan's election, may be averted, and if by Republican success in November, and subsequent prosperity, and by a clinching of the Roosevelt policies, he may be again shown to be a prophet without honor."

Don't forget that all the retail stores will be closed tomorrow afternoon for the races, and the biggest one day Paducah has enjoyed in years will be on. Horse racing, properly conducted and popularly supported, is a royal sport. Smaller towns in western Kentucky, southern Illinois and West Tennessee turn out immense crowds to witness races that are poor in comparison with the Fall Races in Paducah. People who attended them will be here Thursday. Let us show them how Paducah can appreciate the efforts of her own citizens to furnish sport.

BRYAN AND THE LOCAL ORGAN ON BOLTING.

It was with a feeling of profound satisfaction, not to say of gratitude, that we picked up our next-morning contemporary and found therein, not only an answer to our query of "what it thinks of a man who would scratch his ticket or bolt a primary," but an extended discussion of all the questions involved together with a side light on "a newspaper that would advocate such a departure from duty."

We refer to this today, not because our contemporary failed to go into all the details and ramifications, but because it apparently misunderstood our motive in inquiring at all. We did not have in mind the seduction of those few Democrats, who participated in the recent primary. Their number, as compared with the host that voted at the primary when Tom Harrison was nominated for mayor, is a handful and we recall that in those "days of auld lang syne," those who voted for Mayor James P. Smith were forthwith read out of the party as traitors to their country, by this self-same organ, and given to understand at the last primary that they must repent in sack cloth and ashes before presuming to take a hand in party affairs.

It was not this, that actuated us in our persistent inquiries, but a sincere desire to find out what the News-Democrat really thinks of William Jennings Bryan. We regard the News-Democrat as the fountain head of pure Democracy. Its record the last ten years is well known in Paducah, and can anyone recall, when it stabbed a Democrat in the back, or abused him or belittled him in the ticket? Has it ever failed to hold up the nominees before the election or hold up their hands after the election? If anyone dares lift his voice in derogation of the lofty spirit of political piety that emanates from North Fourth street—

"Be ready, Gods, with all your thunder bolts!"
"Dash him to pieces!"
We quote at length and then we shall go for Mr. Bryan:

"So far as the matter regards the individual himself it is solely a question of personal sincerity. If a man enters a primary and by participating therein expresses his desire to abide by the will of the majority it is simply a matter of personal honor with him whether he does or does not carry out his political obligation. If one does not intend to abide by the result of a primary, unless once chosen is the nominee, one should never enter it in the first place.

"Take away the obligations centering about the choice of a primary and the Democratic spirit of it is lost, and the primary itself is rendered utterly useless.

"These old-fashioned ideas of political honesty as held by the News-Democrat may appear to our inquisitive contemporary in a measure incomprehensible, in view of the rather questionable laxity of its own political morals, but if it will pause for a moment and indulge in a little silent meditation it will be helpful to it, in so far as it may be able to absorb a measure of the true Democratic spirit into its body, as well as catch a glimpse of that true faith which leads a man to count personal honor and political obligation as a sacred trust as well as to hold truth as something higher and dearer than the dross of sordid political greed."

Isn't that grand? Now, listen to Mr. Bryan as recorded on page 124 of "The First Battle," under the subtitle "The Philosophy of Bolting."

"On the 26th of February, 1896," he says, "the Omaha World-Herald published an editorial written by me, which I reproduce for the purpose of setting forth my views."

Then he goes on: "Is bolting ever justified and if so when? The World-Herald holds that the individual member of a party at all times reserves the right to vote against the nominee of a party and to abandon his party entirely, whenever in his judgment his duty to his country requires it. He may abandon the party temporarily, as for instance, when an unfit candidate is nominated."

Again on page 126, continuing the same quotation, he says: "If abandonment of party is ever justified, the voter must determine for himself when the time for abandonment arrives. When should he decide? The proper time, if not the only time, is after the party has adopted its platform and named his candidate. Until that time he does not know whether he can rely upon it to secure the government which he regards as good and the legislation which he considers necessary."

"Does participation in a primary or convention bind the voter to support the policy which he considers ruinous? If he tries through his party organization to save his country and fails, must he then take a hand in its destruction? If a great question arises must he assume that his party will go wrong, and therefore leave it before it acts, or should he try to hold his party to the right course?"

What a contemptible cuss the News-Democrat makes Bryan appear. Not only does he justify bolting, but he fixes the proper time for doing so after a primary, and calls it an obligation of good citizenship to do so.

We have nothing to add. We leave it thus. It is wholly a Democratic matter and Mr. Bryan and the News-Democrat both have records on the subject. We have no choice between them.

HUMOR AND WIT.

HUGHES WILL LEAD

N. Y. REPUBLICANS

Overwhelming Majority For Choice of Convention.

Politicians Tried in Vain to Down Man the People Wanted for Candidate.

NO OTHER CONTESTS WERE ON.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Governor—Chas. E. Hughes, of New York.
Lieutenant Governor—Hornet W. Hille, of Oneonta.
Secretary of State—Samuel S. Koenig, of New York.
Attorney General—Edward R. O'Malley, of Erie.
Comptroller—Chas. H. Gaus, of Albany.
State Engineer and Surveyor—Frank M. Williams, of Madison.
State Treasurer—Thomas B. Dinn, of Monroe.
Assistant Justice of Supreme Court—Albert Knight, of Erie.

Charles Evans Hughes, of New York, was nominated by the Republican state convention by an overwhelming majority and on the first ballot to succeed himself as governor of the state of New York. He received 827 votes out of a possible 1,009 as against 151 for Jas. W. Wadsworth, Jr., of Livingston county, speaker of state assembly, and 31 for former Congressman John K. Stewart, of Montgomery. The nomination was made unanimous upon motion of State Committeeman Wm. Barnes, of Albany, who has been perhaps the bitterest and most outspoken opponent of the governor's renomination.

Hughes' renomination followed the utter failure of a desperate struggle on the part of a number of county leaders to discover a candidate upon whom they could unite to defeat him.

The work of the convention was all over and the convention adjourned at 3:30 o'clock.

DENIES THAT BRYAN "COULD DO NO HARM."

Congressman Burke Says Office of President Is Infinitely More Powerful Than Congress.

Congressman James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh in an address on "The Powers of the President" says:

"The American people can make no greater mistake than to elect Mr. Bryan on the assumption that he can do no harm in the face of an adverse senate. As between the executive and legislative departments of the government, the former has infinitely greater power to rule and ruin than the latter. Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan are wholly different types of men. Each possesses a strong individual character, which would certainly assert itself in the White House. What either of these men would do during a four years' term in the White House is causing as much anxiety among thoughtful Americans as the mere matter of the election alone.

"As a disturber of money the president is without a rival in the world. Through the agencies under his control he will this year disburse a billion dollars, showing the great things we are doing in addition to the unparalleled list of the world's achievements.

"In view of the fact that during the fifteen years of Bryan leadership the states controlled by his party have decreased from 23 to 12, the number of senators from 48 to 21, the number of representatives in congress from 229 to 194 and in that time the Democratic party was in control of the ground, whereas it is now, as a consequence of his teachings, a hopelessly heterogeneous mass of populist elements, the American people can see little prospect of a constructive policy if Mr. Bryan should succeed."

Things Bryan Would Forget.

The most important, because the most curiously novel, feature of Mr. Bryan's address is his apotheosis of the party platform. A new doctrine of infallibility is embodied in these sentences at the very beginning of Mr. Bryan's speech:

"A platform is blinding as to what it omits as well as to what it contains. A platform announces a party's position on the questions which are at issue, and an official is not at liberty to use the authority vested in him to urge personal views which have not been submitted to the voters for their approval.

"It is natural that Mr. Bryan should disavow certain 'omitted issues,' such as free silver, government ownership of railroads, the initiative and referendum, attacks upon the courts and other theories which at times he sanctioned overboardly in the past. But he is unfortunate in his manner of expressing that disavowal.

"A party platform is not political holy writ. The American people choose for president a man, not a clerk, to carry out the orders of a convention committee. A platform is not a prophetic code of conduct, but a summary of basic principles, to be altered, amended or enlarged according to the country's needs.—Philadelphia North American.

It is easier to talk philosophy than it is to live up to it.

The Port of Missing Men.

By Meredith Nicholson.
Author of "The House of a Thousand Candles."
Copyright, 1907, by the Dutton-McCraw Company.

"Yes, here the lost legion made its last stand. There lie the graves of some of them. It's a pretty story. I hope some day to know more of it from some such authority as yourself."

"I used to ride horses on any pony when I was a little girl and dream about the gray soldiers who would not surrender. It was as beautiful as an old ballad. I'll wait here. Fetch the horse," she said, "and hurry, please."

"If there are explanations to make"—he began, looking at her gravely.

"I am not a person who makes explanations," Mr. Armitage. You may meet me at the gate."

"As he ran toward the house he met Oscar, who had become alarmed at his absence and was setting forth in search of him.

"Come, saddle both the horses, Oscar," Armitage commanded. They went together to the barn and quickly brought out the horses.

"You are not to come with me, Oscar."

"A captain does not go alone. It should be the sergeant who is sent—yes?"

"It is not an affair of war, Oscar, but quite another matter. There is a saddle horse hitched to the other side of our abandoned bridge. Get it and ride it to Judge Chubb's stables and ask and answer no questions."

A moment later he was riding toward the gate, the led horse following. He dug himself down, adjusting the stirrups, and gave her a hand into the saddle. They turned slowly into the mountain road.

"The bridge would have been splintered and quicker," said Shirley. "As it is, I shall be late to the ball."

"I am quite enough, but you don't make explanations."

"No! I don't explain, and you are to come back as soon as we strike the valley. I always send gentlemen back at that point," she laughed and went ahead of him into the narrow road.

She guided the strange horse with the ease of long practice, skillfully testing his paces, and when they came to a stretch of smooth road sent him flying at a gallop over the trail. He had given her his own horse, a hunter of famous strain, and she at once dismounted and maintained a distance between them that made talk impossible.

Her short-coated riding coat, buttoned close, marked clearly in the starlight her erect figure. Light wisps of loosened hair broke free under her soft felt hat, and when she turned her head the wind caught the brim and pressed it back from her face, giving a new charm to her profile.

He called after her once or twice at the start, but she did not pause or reply, and he could not know what mood possessed her or that once in flight, in the security the horse gave her, she was for the first time afraid of him. He had declared his love for her and had offered to break down the veil of mystery that made him a strange and perplexing figure. His affairs, whatever their nature, were now at a crisis, he had said; quite possibly she should never see him again after this ride.

As she waited at the gate she had known a moment of contrition and doubt as to what she had done. It was not fair to her brother thus to give away his secret to the enemy, but as the horse flew down the rough road

"If you are feeling that man Armitage," her blood leaped with the sense of adventure and her pulse sang with the joy of flight. Her thoughts were free, wild things, and she exulted in the great starry vault and the cool heights over which she rode. Who was John Armitage? She did not know or care now that she had performed for him her last service. Quite likely he would fade away on the morrow like a mountain shadow before the sun, and the song in her heart tonight was not love or anything akin to it, but only the joy of living.

Where the road grew difficult as it dipped sharply down into the valley she suffered him perforce to ride beside her. She drew rein at the cross roads.

"We part here. How shall I return Bucephalus?"

"Let me go to your own gate, please?"

"Not at all," she said, with decision. "Then Oscar will pick him up. If you don't see him, turn the horse loose. But my thanks—for oh, so many things!" he pleaded.

"Tomorrow—or the day after—or never?"

She laughed and put out her hand, and when he tried to detain her she spoke to the horse and flashed away toward home. He listened, marking her flight until the shadows of the valley stole sound and sight from him. Then he turned back into the hills.

Near her father's estate Shirley came upon a man who saluted in the manner of a soldier.

It was Oscar, who had crossed the bridge and ridden down by the nearer road.

"It is my captain's horse—yes?" he said as the slim, graceful animal whinied and pawed the ground. "I found a horse at the broken bridge and took it to your stable—yes?"

A moment later Shirley walked rapidly through the garden to the veranda of her father's house, where her brother Dick paced back and forth impatiently.

"Where have you been, Shirley?" "Walking."

"But you went for a ride, the stablemen told me."

"I believe that is true, captain."

"And your horse was brought home half an hour ago by a strange fellow who saluted like a soldier when I spoke to him, but refused to understand my English."

"Well, they do say English isn't very well taught at West Point, captain," she replied, pulling off her gloves. "You oughtn't to blame the polite stranger for his courtesy."

"I believe you have been up to some mischief, Shirley. If you are seeing that man Armitage—"

"Captain! What are you going to do now?"

"I'm going to the ball with you as soon as I can change my gown. I suppose father and mother have gone."

"They have, for which you should be grateful."

"Captain Chubborne lighted a cigar and waited."

IMPROVEMENT OF THE OHIO RIVER

Receives Attention of Paducah Commercial Club.

President Earl Palmer Addresses a Communication to Citizens of Paducah.

OHIO VALLEY ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of the Paducah Commercial club last night the secretary, S. A. Fowler, was sent by the board of directors as a representative to the Immigration association meeting which meets in Louisville. Mr. Fowler left last night for Louisville to attend the meeting.

The following communication from President Palmer to the citizens of Paducah in regard to the O. V. Improvement association is of timely interest. This communication was before the meeting last night:

To the Citizens of Paducah:—On October 22nd and 23rd the 14th annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association will be held in the city of Louisville. This association has been the means of securing from the national congress its just recognition as a national waterway and highway and its improvement is now under way, looking forward to a permanent system of locks and dams that will give a nine foot stage the year round from Pittsburgh to Cairo. The advantages of this permanent stage of water not only to Paducah and her large manufacturing and commercial interests, but also to the Ohio valley and its tributaries, are apparent to all.

The expenses of this convention and of the work which it has undertaken and carried forward are borne by contributions from the cities and commercial bodies situated along the banks of the Ohio river. At the last visit of Col John L. Vance, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, the Commercial club promised to raise, as a contribution from the city of Paducah and her citizens, the sum of $250. A committee composed of Major Aircraft, Mr. H. A. Peffer and Mr. S. A. Fowler was appointed by the president of the Commercial club to look after this very important matter.

Paducah in the past has contributed liberally towards this great work and it is expected that this year the sum promised will be doubled. Through the efforts of the association the board of engineers having in charge the improvement of the Ohio river has designated that two locks and dams be placed between Paducah and Cairo and that the next work undertaken, which will probably be in 1909, shall be in the lower end of the river. The beneficial results of the expenditure of not less than

The Kentucky will be due tomorrow night from Reerton, Ala., and all way landings and will return Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

The Henricks arrived from Joplin yesterday afternoon and got away for the Tennessee today after a tow of two for Joplin.

The I. N. Hook went down the river to Joplin this morning with her tow of two. She will return tonight and prepare to leave for the Tennessee tomorrow.

The Bob Dudley arrived in port this afternoon at 1 o'clock unexpected. She got only as far as Tull on her last trip. The water in the Ohio is 2 1/2 and 2 feet below here and Evansville. The Dudley was not expected to arrive until tomorrow. She will tie up in the Paducah harbor and wait 24 hours in the Ohio before re-entering the Evansville and Paducah trade.

The James R., a gasoline boat, is making daily trips between Paducah and Hickoma while the Royal is tied up on account of low water.

A New Serum.
It seems probable that five persons have been saved from death in the last ten days by the new serum obtained by Dr. B. Hammond, of the Pasteur Institute, for treatment in advanced cases of hydrophobia. There were eight patients at the institute yesterday suffering from mad dog bites. In one case Dr. Hammond used the Pasteur serum.
"It is too early to say what this new serum will do," said Dr. Hammond, "but it appears that it will do all that is claimed by the Pasteur physicians. I have used it in five cases where people were bitten on the face by a mad dog—the most dangerous place a person can be bitten—and with good results. If I had not had this new serum no doubt the patients would have died."—New York World.

BULLFIGHTERS COMING.
Spanish Buques Toradores With Ringling Bros.' Show.

The funniest clown act ever originated in that of the Toradores, of Spain, a company of burlesque bullfighters which set all Europe to laughing last winter. A frisky and mischievous mule, made up as a bull, and three clever comedians costumed as Toradores, rush madly about the ring, roll and tumble about, wildly paw the air and in the clearest of burlesque go through all the three of a combat in a Spanish pit. The act is one of the laughing hits this season with Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Show, which comes to Paducah on Wednesday, Sept. 30. The Prositt trio, Houston and Linden and the Livingstons, in aerial and horizontal bar travesties are other clever comedians who add much comedy to the program, and Frank Schadel in a burlesque equestrian act with a trained zebra is giving a dash of splay novelty and fun to one of the dignified menage numbers.

Circus Has Great Variety of Music.
Ringling Brothers' circus gives employment to no less than five bands, an organist, a Fiji tom tom orchestra, a minstrel string band, two bugle corps, a drum corps, a calliope player, a chime pianist and a company of Alpine horn musicians. All of these musicians are heard in the parade.

PARTY LINES ARE DISAPPEARING

Night Riders Constitute the Issue in the Second.

Advocates of Law and Order Making Effort to Down Certain Candidates.

THE LATEST POLITICAL GOSSIP

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 16. With every succeeding day it becomes more and more apparent that the position taken by political candidates with reference to the night riding troubles, will have much to do with the votes they receive in the coming election. To a very considerable extent, party lines will disappear and voters will cast their ballot for the man, in local affairs especially, who is pledged to use every endeavor to put an end to the lawlessness which has worked such great injury to the country.

So well recognized is the fact that this is the paramount issue at present, and that until it is settled all other questions affecting the public welfare will have to be held in abeyance, the Anti-Saloon League, after holding a field day here and going over the situation, have decided to make no further efforts for the present toward arousing an interest in this work and holding an election for the purpose of deciding whether or not saloons shall remain in business here. Representatives of the Anti-Saloon League preached from several pulpits and held a mass meeting at Union Tabernacle one Sunday recently. The next day a conference was held with the ministers and citizens, and it was then decided to leave this field alone until the more pressing question should be settled. Actual campaigning, aside from a few preliminary skirmishes, has not been begun. Politicians, for some reason or other, seem to be a little backward in taking hold of the proposition which, handled from either side, must needs arouse more or less opposition. For quite some time now it has been plain that the reign of the night rider was growing weaker and the forces for law and order correspondingly stronger. So strong have the latter become that they confidently expect to put their candidates in office. The night riders and their sympathizers will fight with the desperation of despair for they realize that their cause is about to fall.

It has been persistently reported that the night riders would do some of their most effective work in intimidating negroes to such an extent that they would be kept away from the polls. So straight have these things come that they are generally believed, and a close watch will be kept for any such violators. On account of this being presidential year, any one who in any manner interferes with a voter, either before or during the election, is guilty of a federal offense and would be fined before a United States court. Should any cases of attempted intimidation be reported, every effort will be made to apprehend the guilty ones, and no time lost in preferring charges against them. On account of the severity of the penalty and the justice meted out by the federal courts, the night riders will doubtless go slow in this regard.

Negroes Interested.
The negroes, owing to the many outrages perpetrated by night riders against members of that race, are taking a deep interest in the coming election, and it is believed they will be found loyal almost to a man to the candidates who stand for law and order. Not only do they express this intention, but by every act show their determination to vote this way.
One man, who is by no means the least in the fight being waged against the night riders, says that he believed that if Kentucky gives the Republican national ticket a handsome majority this year, that it will mean the end of night riding by Christmas.

SEVERE DROUTH

IS PROVING DISASTROUS TO STOCK AND CROPS.

Ponds and Wells of Farmers About Exhausted—Danger From Railroad Engines' Sparks.

Emmence, Ky., Sept. 16.—The drouth, so general throughout the state, is causing much inconvenience in this district and it is feared if it lasts much longer it will result disastrously for both crops and stock. The smaller ponds built for stock purposes have long since furnished their last drop and they are today as dry as the land that surrounds them. More fortunate farmers whose wells are deeper and whose ponds still hold a little more of the "drink" are dividing up with their neighbors, but even their supply cannot last much longer.
The dryness of the land and the crispness of the growth along the railroad is causing no little uneasiness

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily excited, excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine cures such a long running case of chronic pelvic inflammation. No diet has such a strong influence on the condition of the system as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of women's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles, will not cure tumors—no medicine will, unless removed surgically. It will, in time, and thus the operating knife and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter. All correspondence is held as strictly private and is entirely confidential. Address Dr. E. W. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (100 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

to the owners. A small red spark from a passing engine has but to fall upon a tuft of grass and in an instant a play flame begins to eat its way along the ground. Along the Louisville and Nashville tracks, after leaving Langston, one can see miles of black ash paths outlined against the dry, brown earth and great round rings of ashes are all that is left of what were once stacks of fragrant hay. However, most of the owners are quickly moving their hay away from the danger of passing trains and most of the surface fires can be stamped out if discovered in time.

THIRTY-THREE PATHFINDER ATTEND THE RHYAN CLUB.

There were 33 members present at the meeting of the Rhyon club when Vice President Joe Patton called the meeting to order last night. Captain William C. Clark delivered a short talk and at 8:20 o'clock the meeting adjourned until Thursday evening. Notice was read that the Mechanics' Rhyon club had postponed its next regular meeting until September 21.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it is the best salve the world affords. The Old, Sweet Dreams.
Sorrow, stay thy hand a while; See!—the sunlight streams Across the world whose gardens smile, Giving me my dreams!

You have darkened every day—Dimmed the night's faint beams; Here are memories of May—All the old, sweet dreams!

Brief the space; so swift in flight—Aye the wished-for gleams; Leave me in the latter light—In the vales of dreams!

RAINMAKERS

ARE NEEDED

Many Sections of Kentucky Suffering.

White Blinds Are Dried Up and the Crops Rank Withers in Portions of State.

THE CATTLE ARE SUFFERING.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 16.—The drouth, which seems to be general all over Kentucky, has reached an alarming stage in this section. For weeks the farmers and town people have united their prayers for rain, but except in a few localities the showers have not come, and those which did fall were far short of what was needed. Streams are at a lower ebb than has been known for years, and many of them have ceased running and are only a succession of stagnant pools, while others have dried up entirely. The public highways are deep in dust which has been ground to the fineness of powder by the passing travel and which rises in suffocating clouds at the slightest breeze or the passage of a vehicle. Crops are suffering greatly. About a third of the tobacco crop is still in the field and the dry weather prevents it from ripening as it should, and it is showing the effects of the hot atmosphere. Corn, unless rain comes soon, will not mature as it should by a big percent, and other crops will suffer likewise.

The public health in some sections is being threatened by malaria, resulting from these conditions. Chills seem to be the prevalent form of the sickness, and these have become common in neighborhoods which have been free from them for a generation. As yet serious attacks of fever have been scarce.

Within the last few days a regular plague of mosquitoes have been visited upon this city. They came all at once and in regular swarms, and all the usual preventives, such as screens, nettings and lotions have proved ineffective to keep them away. The pests are unusually savage in their attacks.

Illini County Is Thirsty.
Mt. Washington, Ky., Sept. 16.—If the drouth in Illini county is not broken within the next few days, the corn crop will be reduced at least 60 per cent, which would cause the price of that product to reach a price never before known. Corn is selling here now at $1 a bushel, and it is estimated that if the present crop does not shortly resolve a good, soaking rain it will reach the $1.50 mark.

Wells, springs, ponds and all running streams are drier than they have been for years, and farmers are suffering for stock water. In fact, it is so scarce that many farmers are having to drive their stock several miles to water. It is predicted that the second crop of potatoes will not be worth digging.

Rain Is Badly Needed.

Remond, Ky., Sept. 16.—The drouth here is reaching a serious stage. It lasts much longer serious results will be felt by farmers in both productions of crops and stock. As it is now the supply of water on most of the stock farms is about gone and the fortunate owner whose well still holds water of whose ponds have not been soaked up by the intense heat of the sun for the last few days or soaked into the dry earth, is eagerly digging his small portion with his unfortunate neighbor. Many farmers are taking advantage of the night to drive their cattle to railroad stations where they are loaded onto the train and taken to Louisville and disposed of there. It is almost impossible for the owner to hold the cattle throughout the drouth.

Ferns along the railroad are veritably dried-up by a spark from an engine has but to fall upon the dry growth and the flames begin to grow and spread. If discovered in time these ferns can be stamped out without serious disaster. Hay stacks along the line of the locomotive right-of-way are being moved to a more remote place on the farm, but already many of these mounds of horse food have gone up in flames. Dust on the pikes is so thick that riding or driving is almost intolerable and everybody is hugging the base. It is the order of the day and if the weather man does not hand out a wet dish soon it is feared that it will be too late.

It Can't Be Beat.

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at all druggists, 50c.

The assessor shall assess personal property in a separate book, in which he shall separate tangible from intangible property. The word person as used herein shall mean natural and artificial persons, and the duties enjoined on them shall in the case of artificial persons, be performed by the chief officer or agent in the city at the time. A GOOD REASON.

Paducah People Can Tell You Why It Is So.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Paducah people testify to permanent cures.

W. H. Smith, of 1612 South Fourth street, Paducah, Ky., says: "My back troubled me for some years and it would ache so intensely at times that I would have to go and lie down and then I could not get up without help. I tried plasters and everything that came to my notice that I thought would help me and though I did receive some benefit the trouble would return again in a short time as before. I finally noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and sent to Daffols, Son & Co.'s drug store for a box. I took them as directed and in about a week was able to go about my work as usual. The business in my back and shoulders disappeared and my kidneys began to perform their work in the proper way. Doan's Kidney Pills soon relieved me of all the trouble and I can cheerfully endorse them." (From a statement given in 1900.)

Cured to Stay Cured.
On February 18, 1907, Mr. Smith said: "I gave a statement in 1900 telling of the cure Doan's Kidney Pills effected, and after this long test I take pleasure in again endorsing them to the public, for I do not believe they have an equal. They made a complete cure in my case, as I have not had an attack of my former complaint since."

The Gold Output.

The gold output of the past month in the Transvaal district of South Africa is placed at 600,000 ounces, or about $12,000,000. This is a new high record and represents a yearly rate of some $150,000,000. As there are no indications of any very serious shrinkage in gold production elsewhere in the world, it is quite possible that the total output for 1907 will surpass all previous records. Considering the vital relationship existing between changes in the money volume and the course of commodity prices, this must have an important bearing upon the immediate future of industry among the leading commercial nations. It would make for business revival—Springfield Republican.

SAFETY BANK IDEA SHOWN A FAILURE

New York's Experience With Guaranteed Deposit Law.

Smashup Reveals All Circulation and Debts Were Due to Insolvent's Guarantee Fund.

ITS FAULTS ARE DISCOVERED

From now on a good deal is to be heard in the campaign with regard to the safety fund for bank deposits which has been advocated by Mr. Bryan and already is in operation in Oklahoma, says the Chicago Tribune. The Democratic managers will not find pleasant reading in the detailed reports of the experience of New York state with guaranteed deposits, now being prepared by the Republican national and congressional committees, which propose to flood the country with them. Practically the only authority on this subject is the book on the history of banking which was written by the late John J. Knox, for many years controller of the currency. His book has been long out of print and is getting more or less rare, but it contains a valuable story as to the evil effects of the interference of a government either state or national, with private business.

The history of the attempt in New York state to do what they now propose to accomplish in Oklahoma is one of disastrous failure. At the first, just as in Oklahoma, there was a great stimulus to individual bankers, deposits increased rapidly, and prosperity seemed certain.

Contest Between the Banks.
The parallel between early conditions in New York and those which now obtain in Oklahoma is strikingly short of extraordinary. There was the same contest between the banks in the safety fund and those who refused to have anything to do with it, and it is worth remembering that it was not a theory but a practice which won in New York, and the free banks in the end demonstrated the utter folly of attempting to inspire confidence in private enterprises by law.

It was in 1828, when most of the charters of the incorporated banks of New York were about to expire, that a movement was set on foot for some new sort of regulation. Martin Van Buren, afterwards president of the United States, then was governor of New York. He sent a message to the legislature in 1829 in which he said it was necessary either to renew the charters of the existing banks when they were known to be in good condition or else to take measures to incorporate an entirely new class of banking institutions. State banks had ended in disaster in other commonwealths, and he believed the efforts of the legislature should be so directed as to secure the safety of existing banks without requiring them all to go into liquidation, which probably would mean great damage to the business interests of the state.

At this juncture Joshua Forman of Syracuse came to the front with a plan for the regulation of the circulation of the state banks. He had not the slightest intention of attempting to guarantee their deposits, because he recognized that miscellaneous debts of that character could not possibly be supervised by the state. Promises to pay by the bank itself, which circulated from hand to hand as money, of course need some sort of guarantee to make them current.

THE WAY OUT

From Weakness to Power by Road Route.

Getting the right start for the day's work often means the difference between doing things in whole-some comfort or dragging along half dead all day.

There's more in the use of proper food than many people ever dream of—more's the pity.

"Three years ago I began working in a general store," writes a man, "and between frequent deliveries and more frequent customers, I was kept on my feet from morning till night. Indigestion had troubled me for some time, and in fact my slight breakfast was taken more from habit than appetite. At first this insufficient diet was not noticed much, but at work it made me weak and hungry long before noon.

"Yet a breakfast of rolls, fried foods and coffee meant headache, nausea and kindred discomforts. Either way I was losing weight and strength, when one day a friend suggested that I try a 'Grape-Nuts' breakfast."

"So I began with some stewed fruit, Grape-Nuts and cream, a soft-boiled egg, toast and a cup of Postum. By noon I was hungry but with a healthy, normal appetite. The weak, languid feeling was not there.

"My head was clearer, nerves steadier than for months. Today my stomach is strong, my appetite normal, my bodily power splendid and head always clear.

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville" in packages.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

CLEAR THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT.

Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy.

Since its discovery one year ago, postum, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use postum for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may now be obtained in Paducah at Gilbert's and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

at a distance from the bank of issue.

No Control of Circulation.

In this letter of Joshua Forman the existing evils were clearly stated. It seemed that in those days, even more than now, banks were organized without capital and managed without honesty. There was no control upon the issue of circulation, so that from excessive expansion succeeded by sudden contraction the business of the country was exposed to constantly recurring periods of financial disturbance. The circulating notes of banks when no longer needed for business are returned for redemption. Then the banks press their debtors, every one is anxious to sell to raise money, prices fall, commodities are exported, gold and silver return, and again the banks put out excessive issues only to have the same round of events repeated.

Old Joshua Forman in the early part of the century seems to have known what he was talking about. To regulate bank issues he proposed to insure the payment of capital, to limit loans and discounts, to prevent the issue of bills other than those payable on demand, to prohibit speculation by bank officers in their own paper and to stop the transferring of assets to preferred creditors on the eve of bankruptcy.

Inasmuch as the banks under the restraining acts already imposed had the exclusive right to issue circulation Mr. Forman proposed a fund to be raised from an annual payment of all the banks, according to capital, to be applied to the payment of the debts of such banks as shall fail, to go on accumulating until it shall amount to $500,000 or $1,000,000. The state was to incorporate no other banks except these willing to come under this system.

Law Enacted in 1829.

There was a long fight over this proposition, but a bill providing for a modifying scheme of this kind finally became a law April 2, 1829. The distinctive feature of this law as summarized by Mr. Knox was the requirement for a common fund to be contributed by every bank having its charter renewed, amounting annually to one-half of 1 per cent of its capital stock, the payments to be continued up to a total of 3 per cent of the aggregate capital.

The fund was to be in charge of the controller and treasurer and the income, after paying the expenses of bank commissioners, was to be returned to the contributing banks in proportion to their contributions. Whenever the fund was reduced by the payment on account of insolvency, the several banks were required to contribute their annual contribution until the limit of 3 per cent of the aggregate capital of all the banks was reached.

In this way New York started in on a financial program similar to that now being tried out in Oklahoma, so much to the satisfaction of Mr. Bryan and Gov. Haskell. The New York scheme was not intended to cover deposits, as I have said. That particular feature of the plan was entirely an accident due to the phraseology of the law, and it was not for some little time that the state authorities discovered to their dismay the wording of the law was such as to attempt to guarantee deposits as well as circulation. Subsequently the law was modified, being limited to circulation only, but the mischief had been done and the crash could not be avoided.

Oklahoma Much the Same.

Before going on to give the story of the smashup which finally came in one of the most conservative states of the union, because of the defect in the law which made it cover deposits, which is a story to be reserved for another dispatch, it is exceedingly rare to find that the situation in Oklahoma today is much the same as that in New York more than three-quarters of a century ago. Disasters from the new state in the far west tell of a sudden increase in deposits in the banks which have come under the safety fund scheme and of a boom in the banking business itself.

According to the report of the bank commissioners of New York for 1832 there were then fifty-two banks in operation under the safety fund system and twelve others not subject to it. The stocks of the new banks were eagerly sought by investors in New York and other states. Outsiders were induced to purchase because of the supposed safety of the system and the people at home put their money in the stocks of these banks thinking the outside demand would soon force them to a premium. Contests for the control of the institutions had the effect of increasing the number of subscriptions, and the commissioners almost at the outset spoke of the number of applications for new banks as far in excess of any true calculation of profitable investment.

First Failure in 1840.

In 1832 the number of banks under the safety fund law was seventy-six with a capital of $26,231,460. That of other banks in the state being $5,175,000. The total circulation of the safety fund banks was $14,464,023, against which they held in specie $5,561,715 and specie funds in city banks $4,944,877. The bank fund had reached $400,000 and so drafts on it were anticipated.

It was not until 1840, when the Wayne County bank failed, owing to the misconduct of its president, that it was discovered the safety fund was responsible not only for the circulation but for all debts of the insolvent bank. The commissioners were frightened at the outlook and in their report said:

"This peculiar feature of the law does not seem until recently to have been generally understood either by the public at large or by those engaged in the business of banking, and great doubt is entertained in regard either to its justice or its expediency. The safety fund act was primarily designed to secure bank note holders and not depositors or other creditors."

Up to the time of the failure of the Wayne County bank the safety fund had not been drawn upon. The fund on Jan. 1, 1841, amounted to $861,643. There were ninety safety fund banks, with an aggregate capital of $32,551,460, which produced an annual payment for the fund of $162,795. It is significant that the fund went along for more than ten years without a failure, and it might have gone on much longer had not the public become aware that the law made it cover all the debts of every bank, and it was this fact and this alone which produced the smash in the New York banks, as will be shown in subsequent dispatches.

"Some men foolishly take their business to bed with them."

"I know a man who is worse than that. He thinks of business even when he is at a ball game."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Honor Satisfied.
A couple of good-natured Frenchmen got into a duel and challenged each other to fight. On the morning of the duel they and their seconds tramped through the woods to the fatal spot, when one of the duellists, the challenging party, tripped and fell. His second helped him to his feet, and his honor was vindicated. "I hope you are not much hurt?" said the other duellist. "I'm not much hurt; I only bumped my nose on the ground." "Does it bleed?" "Yes, a little." "Heaven be praised! Blood flows, and my honor is vindicated. Give me your hand, old boy!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

HAFID AGREES TO ALGERIANS ACT

Sultan's Letter Defining His Course in Morocco.

French Government Did Not Seek to Profit by the Unfortunate Situation.

FRENCH NOTE ALSO IS SENT

Paris, Sept. 16.—The Franco-Spanish note on the subject of the recognition of Mula Hafid as sultan of Morocco was transmitted to the powers signatory to the Algeiras convention.

Mula Hafid's letter to the diplomatic corps at Tangier reached Paris today. He announces his proclamation as sultan, which, he says, "obliges him to execute the engagements of the Algeiras act." Hafid points out, however, that these obligations cannot be executed until his agents can participate in the deliberations of the diplomatic corps at Tangier, and he asks the members of the diplomatic corps to advise their respective government in order that the powers can recognize him as sultan.

Hafid would recognize treaties, treaties concluded by his predecessors, notably that of the Algeiras act, which he considers the basis of the prosperity and progress of the empire from both the political and the economic standpoint, since it guarantees independence for the country and provides useful reforms. He concludes with expressions of hope that the powers on an equal footing will aid him in the elaboration and execution of the proposed reforms.

The Franco-Spanish note is composed of two parts, a "note" properly speaking, and a "declaration." The former refers only to the general interest of the powers to be safeguarded before Mula Hafid is recognized as sultan of Morocco—namely, the confirmation of the Algeiras act and measures involved in its application, notably the right conferred upon France and Spain to prevent contraband of arms at sea and the confirmation of all treaties.

Powers Have Individual Rights.

The declaration is only a courteous notice to which the powers are not asked to reply. It points out that the powers naturally conserve the right to exact directly from Mula Hafid a settlement of questions touching their individual interests, and affirms the right of France and Spain to secure the reimbursement of order at Casablanca, and their decision to reach a mutual understanding for such reimbursement with the Moroccan government.

The note says that Mula Hafid should assure honorable treatment for Abad-el-Aziz and recommend equitable treatment for the latter's functionaries.

An official communication issued in connection with the note explains that France, instead of trying to profit by the situation and force a settlement of her own affairs before the recognition of Mula Hafid as sultan, had a higher conception of her duty, believing that his recognition should be solely conditional upon guarantees in the common interest of all the powers.

WOMAN'S CLUB'S YEAR BOOK IS OUT

An Artistic Volume in Rough Green Paper Back.

Literary Department Program for Year Is Outlined for the Members.

CLUB STUDY OPENS OCTOBER

The year book for the Paducah Woman's club for the coming season of 1906 and 1907 has just been issued. It contains 26 pages and is bound in an artistic rough paper in green, with "The Woman's Club of Paducah, Kentucky" in a darker shade of green, in a gold border. It is tied with a white cord, carrying out the club colors, green, gold and white.

It contains a picture of the club house as a frontispiece. The title page gives the date of the organization of the club, November 15, 1906, its incorporation January 19, 1907, and its federations March 13, 1907. The club motto is also given. It is: "In essentials—unity. In non-essentials—liberty. In all things—charity."

Next is a list of the advisory board, the officers, the department chairmen and a brief sketch of the club in the past.

Then the order of business of the club meetings is followed by an outline of the work of the various departments for the coming year. A financial report, the constitution and by-laws, including recent amendments, the club calendar and the membership roll, completes the volume.

STRUCK DEAD

LABORER ON BROADWAY LINE KILLED WITH CROWBAR.

Accidental Death of John Whitesides, a Colored Traction Company Employee.

Struck on the head with a crowbar yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock John Whitesides, a colored employee of the Paducah Traction company, was killed while working on the new track on Broadway. The employees were rolling a new rail to the street, and Whitesides had a heavy crowbar on one end. As the rail dropped into the excavation the bar was swung around and caught Whitesides on the back of the head. He died in a few minutes after he received the blow. Patrolman Henry Singery was on the corner and ran to the man. Later Constable Eaker was notified and he took charge of the body. Whitesides was reliable and was hard working. His father is the Rev. John W. Whitesides, pastor of the Atkins Avenue A. M. E. church. Whitesides was about 30 years old.

Many a man who thinks he is right doesn't go ahead.
